CHOCOLATE

OUR FAMILY BUSINESS IS MARKING
A NEW CHOCOLATE CHAPTER

There has been a change in leadership at Zotter –
Julia & Michael Zotter have taken over the business and its values.

On the 1st of March 2026, Julia Zotter was named the new Managing Director of the company. She's a master confectioner, top of her class at the renowned »Le Cordon Bleu« culinary school in Paris, and she is supported in heading up the company by her brother Michael, who has pulled the business into the digital age and has future-proofed it. And what about the self-proclaimed chocolate pensioner Josef Zotter?

Those familiar with Sepp Zotter know that he would be miserable on a deserted island, so what does the founder of a company do after 39 years of leading it?

Well, releasing a new master range of course, while leaving the entire rest of the product range to his daughter Julia. A seamless transition mirrored in the variety of our selection. Julia Zotter is releasing innovative new creations such as raspberry and orange caramel and dark chocolate sweetened with cacao pulp, and also ones that are a little bit crazy, like the »Carp Caviar & Jelly Berries« chocolate. And she chose a cheese chocolate, made with Sepp Zotter's traditional recipe, to bring back nostalgic childhood memories.

All are an integral part of the family business. The young leaders contribute a fresh breath of creativity alongside limitless energy and fearlessness, and Sepp and Uli have all the experience necessary to ensure stability. The family business is thriving and evolving, and this transition represents a huge benefit to all.

Julia and Michael have grown up around chocolate and have been a part of business decisions made at the family table for years, such as the biggest investment in the history of the company – the expansion to become a bean-to-bar chocolate factory; a decision made by Julia and Michael, who have known since 2007 that they would one day lead the business into the future. Their foresight and subsequent investment decisions have enabled the company to make huge leaps in competence and know-how.

Let's make chocolate!

INNOVATION & CRAFTSMANSHIP

We have developed lots of new chocolate delicacies and we are happy to have 230 employees who give it their all every single day to make your sweet, chocolatey dreams a reality.

Organic, Fair Trade and bean-to-bar – that's how chocolate dreams come true!

So what has changed? Julia Zotter now has the last word: »One of the things my parents have taught me is that in principle, everything is doable as long as you have a strong foundation to work from: solid values such as organic and Fair Trade, and a vision we all believe in. That's why I visited our cacao suppliers in Colombia, and our head of bean-to-bar production travelled through Peru – personal contact ensures top quality cacao.

To be honest, I consider myself a genuine team player. Our entire business is carried by its employees, and through team spirit. Many of the people who work for us have known me since I was a child. We're not just a family business because it was founded by a family, but our employees are considered family to us as well, and some of their relatives have now also come to work for us – a career being passed down from parents to their children. This gives our business a hugely valuable core and an enormous source of experience, which we utilise to produce perfect, masterfully crafted chocolates. I am therefore delighted that we have been named »Best Employer in Styria« for the fifth time, and that we have also won the »EU Organic Award 2026« for the best organic restaurant. This is an absolutely fantastic accolade for our Edible Zoo and our restaurant!«

chocolate season!

The Filled Chocolate Wonders – The Original

Hand-scooped is a mixture of inventiveness and manual work. The hand-scooped chocolates are filled chocolates. The fillings are spread in layers on long tracks. During this process up to 6 different layers are combined and coated all around with chocolate. By combining different ingredients such as marzipan and Amalfi lemons, something new is created all the time – ideally a flavour explosion. Thanks to the wonderful compositions of taste and their unique design the hand-scooped chocolates have turned into a cult.

Available in 18 varieties + 4 variations

The Big Bang of the Chocolate Culture

Xocolatl was the liquid gold of the Incas, Mayas and Aztecs. Julia Zotter revitalises the origin of the chocolate culture and composes innovative variations of Drinking Chocolates that bathe in hot milk in the form of small chocolate bars. The hot drinks are available in many varieties and colours. And in summer one can also enjoy the Drinking Chocolates on ice, as cold drinks. We offer pretty drinking sets for the perfect presentation.

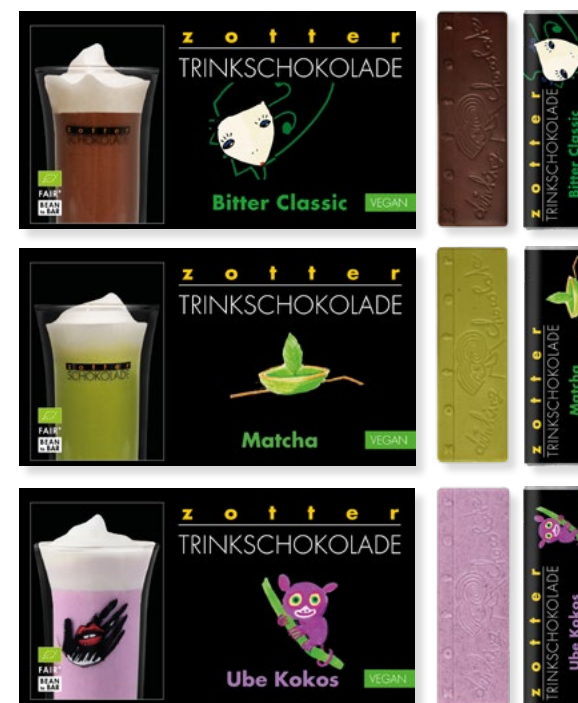

DRINKING CHOCOLATE CEREMONY

- ① Heat up 200 ml of milk or any vegan drink to a temperature of 85–90°C and foam it.
- ② Let the Drinking Chocolate melt in the hot liquid for 2 minutes.
- ③ Whisk well and let steep for another 2 minutes to allow the aroma to develop.
- ④ Give it one more good whisk and enjoy!

DRINKING CHOCOLATE MIXED

WITH A STAND OR HAND BLENDER

- ① Heat up 200 ml of milk or any vegan drink to a temperature of 85–90°C.
- ② Let the Drinking Chocolate melt in the hot liquid for 2 minutes.
- ③ Mix it at a low setting at first and turn up the mixing speed briefly at the end to give it a foamy crest.

Labooko

PURE CHOCOLATE VARIETY!

Single origin chocolates: dark chocolate, milk chocolate alongside white chocolate and fruit bars

The Labooko range features fine flavour cacao from the best cacao growing regions in the world. Each chocolate contains a rare cacao variety with a vivid history, from the Maya cacao grown in Belize and Guatemala to Dominican cacao harvested in a nature reserve. Cacao is a tool for environmental conservation, it thrives as a mixed crop and in the middle of the rain forest, and it also safeguards the traditional life of indigenous people as well as guaranteeing a decent income for them.

Each year, we release a new Opus: This year, we are presenting a premium cuvée featuring rare cacao varieties from indigenous cacao farmers in five countries.

Cacao from indigenous farmers is the focus of the new Opus cuvée.

Julia Zotter visits the Arhuaco people in Colombia

The indigenous Arhuaco people make their living from growing cacao.

Even the transport of cacao is traditional ...

Thanks to cacao cultivation, their traditional way of life has a future.

White cacao beans are a sign of Criollo, some of which is found inside the fruit.

Thanks to this excellent collaboration, the cacao farmers are secure, and we look forward to receiving top-quality cacao.

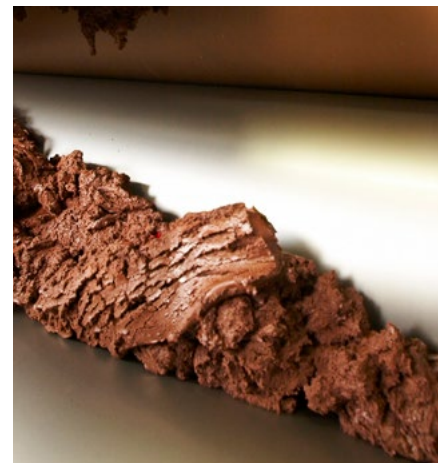

The Zotter family at the cacao bean warehouse

The production process begins with first-rate cacao beans.

Bean-to-Bar

Cacao beans are processed in-house at Zotter's and are turned into different flavours of chocolate and a magnificent variety of yummy creations.

NOBLE & TENDER

Available in 4 varieties

»MASTER MIX« PURE FLAVOUR & THE ULTIMATE INDULGENCE

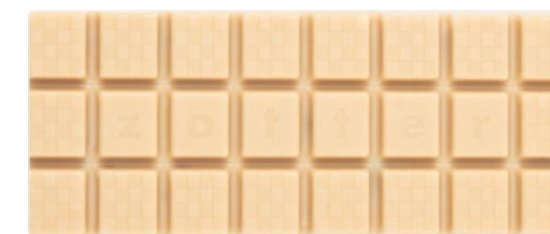

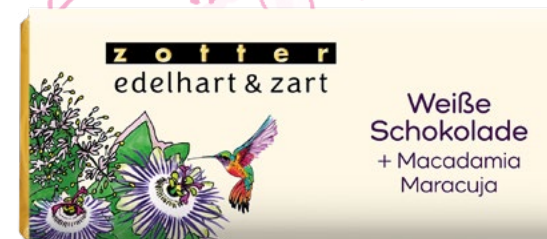

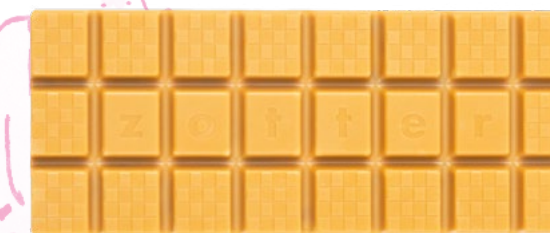

Enjoy the good things in life – with chocolate.

Josef Zotter has created a master range »NOBLE & TENDER« using his 50 years of experience as chef and confectioner. A pure chocolate consisting of a variety of flavour components – an indulgence and pure joy.

»Nobel« – a fine flavour solid like pure chocolate and »tender« – like homemade praline alongside subtle notes of fruit. Moulded into a thick bar with cubed ridges for breaking off small pieces to enjoy. Chocolatey, with a praline melt and joyful fruity accents. Sometimes, a certain little something is missing – Zotter adds this skillfully with a pinch of salt, some cinnamon, a dash of vanilla and a hint of lemon.

Pure and multi-faceted in flavour and an easy, indulgent snack.

This comes in a classic paper sleeve wrapper with a hummingbird design and almond and passion fruit flower illustrations mirroring its ingredients.

Large format chocolate classics

Pure classics in all the classic flavours: white chocolate, milk chocolate and dark chocolate. Alongside our hazelnut and almond classics.

The secret to a classic chocolate bar lies in the selection of high-quality ingredients and the very special processing we do at Zotter's bean-to-bar factory. Of course, all the classics are also entirely organic and fair. This is how you do something good for the environment, the farmers and also yourself.

We use environmentally friendly cardboard and organic foil packaging. Our cellulose foil is made from renewable raw materials; it's biodegradable and even compostable as per EN 13432.

It's a chocolate innovation featuring the finest alcohol aroma without the added hangover. Enjoy these handmade prototypes, decorated with sensual illustrations. It's a pleasure!

Nutting Hill

The Praline Bar with Whole Nuts

25 g praline bar
1 variety available

Whole hazelnuts on a homemade almond praline with a pinch of salt manage the trick of being a delicious praline that's not too sweet. The caffeinated guarana in the almond praline and the homemade coffee couverture coat ensure a proper boost of energy, and the coffee was created at our in-house coffee roastery using fair traded organic beans. The silhouette of the mountains made of nuts sticking out of the chocolate inspired the name »Nutting Hill«, our praline snack with crunchy, nutty peaks.

ORGANIC + FAIR Coffee

Fair traded organic coffee straight from Zotter's coffee roastery, for lovers of mild and slow-roasted coffee.

Our Arabica coffee beans, processed in small, 25-kg batches, are roasted very slowly and for a long time at low temperatures, until we can hear the 2nd crack, producing coffee with a low acidity but loads of roast aroma.

Coffee is rich in natural flavours, and through the long, gentle roasting process, the Arabica beans can develop their full flavour profile.

Available as whole-bean coffee and as coffee capsules.

A CACAO JOURNEY TO PERU

Thomas Linshalm, our bean-to-bar production manager, spent two weeks travelling around Peru and visited several cooperatives in the Amazon region. Ancient Nativo cacao varieties are still cultivated there, and you can gauge their quality even just from the sweetness of the fruit pulp. Peru is one of the most diverse cacao-producing countries in the world. This diversity is largely down to small family-run farms, which manage their plantations with a wealth of experience.
